ACLS HUMANITIES E-BOOK

ACLS Humanities E-Book (HEB) is the most comprehensive humanities list available online with cost-efficient access. It is a collaboration among 23 learned societies, over 100 publishers, and librarians at the University of Michigan's MPublishing division. The result is an online, fully searchable collection of enduring, high-quality books in the humanities, reviewed and recommended by scholars. HEB features unlimited, multi-user access and free, downloadable MARC records and stats. It is available on and off campus through standard web browsers. Operating since 2001, HEB was initially funded by a grant from The Andrew W. Mellon Foundation. For an introduction and downloadable PowerPoint demo go to:

HEB TITLES

ACLS Humanities E-Book offers over 1 million pages, 80,000 images, and the full text of over 3,300 titles selected by scholars across the humanities. Hundreds of titles are added each year. The collection includes monographs, critical studies, primary sources, reference works and essays — both in- and out-of-print — ranging from the 1880s through the present. Titles link to publishers' websites and to online reviews in the major journals in JSTOR, Project MUSE and other sites. HEB offers standardized annotation and citation methods and full cross-searchability. Complete current and forthcoming title lists (in spreadsheet format with publication details) can be found at:

<http://www.humanitiesebook.org/titlelist.html>.

PRINT-ON-DEMAND

Nearly 400 titles from the collection are currently available in print-on-demand (POD) format. For further details, please go to:

<http://www.humanitiesebook.org/pod-titlelist.html>.

“One of the best — if not the best — electronically accessible sites in the humanities.”

— Institute of Historical Research, London, September 18, 2009

XML TITLES

HEB continues to build its list of XML titles ranging from print-first to robust born-digital works. It also offers a complete suite of tools and features replicable for any publishing XML workflow. A total of over 90 current and forthcoming titles include parallel texts and images, hi-res image viewing, sound, video, digital archives, interactive mapping, virtual-reality reconstructions, reviews, related scholarship and other resources.

See: <http://www.humanitiesebook.org/xml-titlist.html>.

SEARCH, BROWSE & VIEW

Search options include simple, Boolean, proximity and bibliographic; plus full-text, author, title, subject, publisher or special series. Search histories are included. Users may browse by title, author or subject. Browsing by subject provides a full listing of Library of Congress subjects drawn dynamically from the HEB collection's MARC records, provided free. Viewing options include page-image, PDF and text.

“An outstanding experiment in collaborative publishing and dissemination of scholarly monographs.... ACLS is to be applauded for exposing such a remarkable collection of works to a potentially much broader public.... Recommended: lower-level undergraduates through faculty/researchers.”

— Choice, August 2008

“Since its launch in 1999, HEB has been making steady progress pioneering the digital future.”
